

Sprint Report #4
Looking For Slugs
Team Name
12/4/23

Actions to stop doing:

- N/A, this is our final sprint. However, in future projects, we should work a bit harder on communicating schedules when we work to avoid merge conflicts or preventing maximum productivity.

Actions to start doing:

- N/A, this is our final sprint. However, in future projects, it would be good to start testing early and often to ensure that our functions are bulletproof before moving on.

Actions to keep doing:

- Keep communicating
  - In addition to daily scrum meetings, giving updates through discord also was very helpful
- Task Delegation
  - Having tasks always available to pick up in case developers finish their tasks early. This allows us to always have something to do and be efficient.
- Making reasonable decisions to decide which functionality are worth pursuing are which are just fluff

Work completed/Not completed:

- Completed:
  - Updated edit event functionality
  - Implementing capacity check for events
  - Adding expirations to events to ensure they don't get left in the database forever
  - Added interactive map to UI
- Not completed:
  - None

Work Completion rate:

- total number of user stories completed during the prior sprint:
  - As a user, I want to be able to view my events on a map
  - As a user, I don't want my feed to be flooded with events that have already passed
  - As a user, I want to be able to edit event details after I've posted it
  - As a user, I want to be able to see the creator of the event and its members
- Total number of estimated ideal work hours completed during the prior sprint
  - 39 hours
