Sprint Report #2
Looking For Slugs
Team Name
11/6/23

Actions to stop doing:
- Adding features without proper documentation
  - Sometimes technology would be added without proper additions to the README and it would cause roadblocks for people trying to access the project

Actions to start doing:
- Writing new features into the README
  - Some features that get added to the project don't have instructions so we need to make sure we have clear communication to each other when new features are added
- Adding .gitignores when appropriate
  - Some modules that get added have inconsistent dependency satisfaction when pulled from the github but .gitignores are what we need to ensure people can smoothly transition between versions

Actions to keep doing:
- Keep communicating
  - In addition to daily scrum meetings, giving updates through discord also was very helpful
- Task Delegation
  - Having tasks always available to pick up in case developers finish their tasks early. This allows us to always have something to do and be efficient.
